AMUSEMENTS

National Theatre-Ada Cavendish. Mational Theatre—Ada Cavendish.

Miss Ada Cavendish made her second appearance as Josephine Clarion in A. C. Guuter's drama entitled "The Soul of an Actress" at the National theatre last night. The play itself is a strong one, better in continuity of plot than that by the same author which was presented here by Miss Manil Granger two weeks ago. The action is vigorous and each act covering approximation of the continuity of the same and covering the control of the same and covering the control of the same and covering the control of the same and covering the same and covering the same covering the same and the s act contains opportunities for effective tab-leaux. Miss Cavendish, aside from being a beautiful woman, is an actrees of far more than ordinary ability, and in the part of Josephine the has found a character to which the is specially adapted. The audience was uick to recognize the excellence of her im-ersonation, and she was brought before the urtain at the close of each act. Miss Laura comb as Julie became at once a favorite by the artiess grace and ingeniousness of her acting. Mr. George C. Boniface is well and favorably known here as an actor of sterling merit, and his rendition of the part of Manries fully sustained his excellent reputation. The other characters were well sustained. The play is one which should be witnessed by all who admire good acting. The matinee to-day should not be forgotten Ford's Opera-House-"100 Wives."

by the president. The sessions will extend over to-morrow and will conclude with an oration by Linden Kent, eaq. of the District bar, and a banquet at the National to-morrow evening. There are over fifty deligates at tending the nonvention, which is the largest method more than an acting play; it is a turiffing portrayal of the injunities of morthly in the reports yesterday that the fraternity is should be the duty of every citizen to do what lies in his power to urge those who make of forty-nine colleges represented.

ARE THOSE WHO HAVE EXAMINED THE GOODS IN OTHER STORES. THEY BUY OF US WITHOUT THE LEAST HESITATION.

The principle upon which we conduct business, that of marking our ONE PRICE in plain figures on each garment, is steadily growing in favor with the public. They are beginning to realize that it is the only JUST mode of dealing, and also that at OUR ONE PRICE they receive equal and in many cases better value than at any other Clothing Establishment in the District.
